HERE AND THERE.

S. H. Claggett has two fresh milch cows for sale.

Girls, don't chew wax in the Opera House.

A slight shower followed up the good news of the elections Wednesday night.

Mr. Louis Solomon has moved into the cottage vacated by Prof. Bramham, on North Main.

The clerk's office has been remodelled and the clerk's desk increased with a high railing.

An effort is being made to have the post-office removed to No. 9 South Main street, the first of January.

Married, at the Methodist parsonage Monday afternoon by Rev. W. R. Peabody, R. L. McGuire and Miss Ophelia Macrae, both of Trenton, Ky.—Clarkville Tobacco Leaf.

The temperance people have about completed arrangements with Lon J. Neenan, "the Grouch of the West," to deliver two lectures on temperance in this city at an early date.

In the case of Fritz Bros. against the city, the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $120.

The suit was brought to recover damages on account of the crippling of one of their horses some time ago, while passing over an unsafe crossing near the cemetery.

In nearly every other city violators of the law are made to work on the streets. In Hopkinsville they are maintained in idleness and the city hires the streets cleaned. It is about time such extravagance was stopped.

Let us have a chain gang and utilize the labor of city prisoners.

John Lewis and Miss Docie Pennington were married at the Northington House yesterday morning by Dr. Soars. They were from Crofton, Ky., and came all the way on horseback, arriving here about two o'clock Monday morning.—Clarkville Tobacco Leaf.

Mrs. Hanna M. Huff, wife of Enos Huff, died of consumption in Fairview last Tuesday after a long illness. She was buried at the Cemetery in this city, Wednesday. She was 27 years old and a consistent member at the Methodist Church, to which she had belonged for several years.

A gentleman who arrived from Eldridgeville yesterday brought the news that a colored boy named Green Holloway was sick at that place with what the doctors pronounced a well developed case of genuine small-pox. He had been in the town only about four days when he was taken down with the disease.

John Caldwell, col., who was arrested here about five months ago, on a charge of selling liquor in violation of the revenue laws, and placed in the jail at Louisville, was tried last week and, fined $100 and given 60 days in jail, but was afterwards pardoned, and returned to this city, Wednesday.

John Jones narrowly escaped serious injury last Tuesday. As he was driving to the city and when near Mr. Tribble's dwelling, on the Palmyra road, his horse took fright at the tents used by the turnpikes hands and ran off. The buggy was upset in a deep ditch and Mr. Jones thrown out sustaining severe bruises about the neck and shoulder, but he held on to the reins and no serious damage was sustained.

The grocery firm of Chas. McKee & Co., is one truly deserving the patronage of the public, as they manifest the enterprise and push characteristic of live and wide-awake business men. They appreciate the value of a little printer's ink, as evidenced by the attractive advertisement in this issue. They are now perfectly at home in their new quarters at 103 South Main, and are ready to serve their customers to fresh groceries at low prices.

Hon. I. A. Spaulding, of Union county, who is a member of the Railroad Commission, spent Wednesday in this city. He has been visiting the principal cities in this end of the State, while the other members of the commission look after the other sections. Mr. Spaulding during his stay spent no idle time but visited all of our shippers in person, and made himself acquainted with their wants if they had any. He is faithfully doing his duty as commissioner and putting more work into it than we have hitherto noticed of the commissioners.

California has a delightful climate but those who are rushing headlong to the Pacific slope should remember that it takes something more than climate to live on. California is just now running on eastern capital and is foolishly cutting up her best lands into paper towns, instead of developing her resources. All countries depend upon the products of the soil or upon manufacturing industries for enduring prosperity and California can never be a great agricultural state, nor can she be a manufacturing state on account of the lack of water. Wheat is raised in the northern valley lands, but California has but little to export except her fruit products, which she must exchange for a thousand imports from the eastern States. It is only in her climate that California can surpass Kentucky. In every other respect Kentucky is far ahead of her as she is of the poor states along the Atlantic coast. Taken all in all there are few if any better spots in America than Christian county, Kentucky.

A FATAL BLOW UP.

Walter Hawley Killed By an Exploding Oil Tank at the Gas Factory.

A loud explosion startled the city Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, which was quickly followed by the ringing of the fire bell and the shrill blowing of the railroad yard engine. A dark cloud of black smoke slowly rose from the direction of the gas factory, but there were no flames and the fire company which was called out, was not needed.

Investigation showed that there had been a horrible explosion, which blew up one of the oil tanks at the gas works and killed Walter Hawley, an eleven-year-old son of the Superintendent, Mr. J. B. Hawley.

It is not known what caused the explosion. The Superintendent had received that morning a supply of naphtha, a bluish and highly inflammable oil from which the gas is made, and was having the large tank just outside the building re-filled. The little boy was standing on the top of the iron tank watching the oil run in and it is supposed that he struck a match and held it to the hole to see how much had run in. This will never be known for the boy never regained consciousness after the explosion and no one saw his movements. Suddenly Mr. Hawley and Mr. S. H. Harrison, who were talking about 30 yards from the tank, heard the terrific explosion and saw the cloud of smoke rise from the tank. The north end of the tank was blown out and hurled across Fourth Street, some 30 yards. The pipe connecting with the tank on the car was broken and Mr. Hawley ran to cut off the flow of oil, which was wasting on the ground. When he returned in a few seconds Mr. Harrison remarked "There was a boy on that tank just now," and running to the scene Mr. Hawley found his son lying some 20 steps away, between the gas tank and engine house. It is not known whether he was blown there or ran there himself. His clothes were burnt off and he was lying naked and the grass was burning around him. A bucket full of water was thrown on him and he was picked up by Mr. Hawley, who was severely burned in doing so. He was still alive but was a horrible sight to look upon. His eyes were burned out, his nose burned off and the flesh on his face and entire body was blistered until it peeled off when touched. His hands and feet were literally cooked and his hair was all turned out. The flesh was blackened until the features were unrecognizable. The sufferer was unconscious and when taken to his home made no movements except to tear the flesh from his breast with his fingers, his arms being drawn until his hands lay across his body. When his socks were removed the flesh left the bones of his feet and came off with the socks. Medical aid was summoned but nothing could be done and death relieved his sufferings at 6 o'clock.

The little fellow was a bright, promising boy. Mrs. Hawley fainted when told of the horrible accident, but was restored to consciousness by prompt medical attention.

The building was not damaged and the only loss sustained was on the exploded tank and the wasted oil, which will probably amount to several hundred dollars. The culvert on the railroad opposite was ignited but the flames were extinguished before any damage was done.

The Andrew Novelty Co.

The above named company played an engagement of four nights this week, closing the engagement last night. The attendance was not as large as the merits of the show deserved. The program was changed each evening and consisted of the performances of acrobats, jugglers, trained animals and birds, exhibitions of ventriloquism, sleight of hand, performance, mind-reading, etc.

The dogs, birds, and goats were wonderful exhibitions of animal training. They were trained by Prof. Andrew, himself, who has spent many years in this kind of work.

Prof. Chas. Steen and wife, the wonderful mind readers, performed some inexplicable things and astounded the audience at each performance.

Mr. Rouleau, the juggler, does some clever acting, and excels anything ever before seen in the city.

The balancing act, ventriloquism, and the "loose" acting of Mr. Joe Lewis are all very entertaining features of the show.

Prof. Andrew's sleight-of-hand tricks are new and novel and pleased the audience well.

The show is a good one and is accompanied by a good orchestra. Whenever Prof. Andrew may go the people need not hesitate about attending his performances, as they will be entertained, mystified and well pleased.

Some of our grocers seem to be laboring under the impression that they can buy their grocery bags for less than we can sell them for. Such is not the case, and if they will stop long enough to figure it up, they will find that they often buy in foreign markets at a loss. Besides buying from a home dealer keeps the money at home and encourages the upbuilding of home enterprises. Come around and let us furnish you what you need.

Forest fires are raging so fiercely about Paducah that navigation between that place and Cairo is almost suspended on account of the dense smoke.

The Cayce-Scates Wedding.

Married: At the residence of the bride's mother on Nov. 1st, at 3 o'clock P. M., Mr. Ike Cayce and Miss Joale Scates, Rev. J. T. Barrow officiating. The attendants were as follows: Miss Lizzie Pankoy and Mr. Dan Hanberry; Miss Lula Gary and Mr. Tanny Mason; Miss Cora Pankoy and Mr. Charley Cayce; Miss Laura Gary and Mr. Jim Adams; Miss Georgie Bush and Mr. Will Gary.

Guests from a distance arrived before noon and were partners of a most excellent dinner, and had time to admire the beautiful decorations, and the many bridal presents. Soon after the marriage the bride party set forth en route to Mr. George Cayce's, the groom's father. They had not gone far when "The lengthening shadows still longer grew, And the sun kissed the occident right in their view."

Ever long the stars were twinkling at each other as if they saw kissing on the earth beneath, but the guilty parties thought they were in heaven about that time. Soon the moon was observed traveling her fair pathway through the deep blue of the sky, bathing the world in silvery light, and gilding the wings of the feathered songsters whose music made glad
